*Narrative Section for expenses requiring examples or for expenses not listed above:

Personal Services - List the position titles, number and percentage of full time equivalent positions for each position title and whether the position is administrative or direct services. List the salary and total benefits to be charged to FSET for each position. Do not include any personnel for which you have a subcontract. Please list the name, address and phone number of the financial officer or other responsible fiscal person designated by your organization. The contractor will provide adequate staffing as determined by the Department and facilities and equipment to carry out the program. Persons must actually be involved with the program for a specific percentage of time as listed here or they cannot be charged to the program during the reimbursement process.

Operating Expenses - Indicate all operating expenses on the Budget Breakdown worksheet. Examples of operating costs are rent, utilities, and supplies. If you subcontract for any portion of the program, include those expenses on the Budget Breakdown worksheet. Explain what portion of the program is subcontracted, any personnel supplied through the subcontract and indicate the cost of the subcontract. Copies of the subcontract must be submitted to the Public Assistant Bureau Contract Officer as per your contract. Indicate in the budget what will be included in training costs.

Submit on the budget worksheet administrative and program costs. This detailed budget must show what percentage of the budget is proposed for administrative costs and what specific areas (personnel costs by position, rent and materials, etc.) apply to administration.

Reasonableness: A cost may be considered reasonable if the nature of the goods or services acquired or applied and the associated dollar amount reflects the action that a prudent person would have taken under the circumstances prevailing at the time the decision to incur the cost was made. The cost principles elaborate on this concept and address considerations such as whether the cost is of a type generally necessary for the organization's operations or the contract performance; whether the recipient complied with its established institutional policies in incurring the cost; and whether the persons responsible for the expenditure acted with due prudence in carrying out their responsibility to the funding program and the public as well as to the organization.

Allocability: A cost is allocable to a specific contract, function, department, etc., known as a cost objective, if the goods or services involved are chargeable or assignable to that cost objective in accordance with the relative benefits received or other equitable relationship. A cost is allocable to a contract if it is incurred solely in order to advance work under the contract; it benefits both the contract and other work of the institution, including other contract-supported projects; or is necessary to the overall operation of the organization and is deemed to be assignable, at least in part, to the contract.

Any cost allocable to a particular program or cost objective under these principles may not be shifted to other programs to overcome fund deficiencies, avoid restrictions imposed by law or grant agreement for other reasons. No other program dollars are to be co-mingled with FSET dollars in the contractor accounting structure.

For purposes of this Plan and the contract the word commingle means:
Commingle means funds that are blended with other funding sources, and not kept segregated in the accounting system. Separate records must be kept that identify the source and application of funds for federal and state sponsored activities. The records must be supported by source documentation.

Consistency: A contractor must be consistent in assigning costs to cost objectives. Therefore, costs must be treated consistently for all work of the organization under similar circumstances, regardless of the source of funding, so as to avoid duplicate charges.

Conformance: The expenditures of the monies received through the contract must be in conformance with the purposes, limitations and exclusions as contained in the terms and conditions of the contract. These expenditures must be properly recorded and supported by source documentation.

Personal Property: If the Contractor purchase for $250 or more any materials or items of personal property for the conduct of business generally or for the provision of services under this contract, and if the Contractor purchases such materials or items with funds the Department pays under this contract then each such material or item of personal property shall become the sole property of the Department. Such person property includes, but is not limited to equipment, furniture (including but not limited to cubicles), electronic and communication devices (including but not limited to phone system, fax, televisions, etc.), computers and related items, staff convenience items (including but not limited to refrigerators, and microwaves), software, and audio-visual items. In addition, the following items must be turned over to the Department or designee of the Department even if the value is less than $250: computers, copiers, printers, faxes, monitors, phone system; desks and chairs.

Audits: A governmental or nonprofit entity contractor is subject to the audit requirements of OMB Circular A-102 as implemented by 7 CFR 277.17.
